

Harvest of Memories

In golden fields at break of day,
You toiled beneath the sun's warm ray,
Through every season, come what may,
Your love of land would never stray.
With calloused hands and steadfast stride,
You worked the land with love and pride,
Through storm and sun, through harsh and still,
A farmer's duty to fulfill.
Now gentle winds through wheat fields sigh,
Soft echoes of your labor lie,
Yet in the earth, you'll never die,
Your harvest lives beneath the sky.
Though seasons change and time moves on,
Your spirit lingers in the dawn.

In Loving Memory of

William Thomas Spence
– Billy –

20 May 1941 – 21 March 2026

Farewell my friends,
It was beautiful, as long as it lasted.
The Journey of my life.

Psalm 23

The Lord is my shepherd; I have what I need.

He lets me lie down in green pastures;

he leads me beside quiet waters.

He renews my life;

he leads me along the right paths

for his name's sake.

Even when I go through the darkest valley,

I fear no danger,

for you are with me;

your rod and your staff —

they comfort me.

You prepare a table before me

in the presence of my enemies;

you anoint my head with oil;

my cup overflows.

Only goodness and faithful love will pursue me

all the days of my life,

and I will dwell in the house of the Lord

as long as I live.

John 14:1–6

“Don't let your heart be troubled. Believe in God; believe also in me. In my Father's house are many rooms; if not, I would have told you. I am going away to prepare a place for you. If I go away and prepare a place for you, I will come again and take you to myself, so that where I am you may be also. You know the way to where I am going.”

“Lord,” Thomas said, “we don't know where you're going. How can we know the way?”

Jesus told him, “I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me.”
